

NEWSLETTER NUMBER 4 – FEBRUARY 2021

Welcome to the fourth newsletter of the Museum. We hope that you and your families have stayed safe.

We managed to open the museum in October only to be forced to close again for the second lockdown. We opened again in December but were unable to reopen as planned after the festive break because of the third lockdown. At the time of writing, we await the opportunity to reopen as soon as restrictions are lifted.

We are fully equipped to comply with current COVID guidelines and the Museum will reopen as soon as permitted. Please look out for details on the website, in the monthly “RadlettNews” magazine and on posters around the village.

Despite the limitations of lockdown, the Trustees have continued to be active and a number of events and activities have been planned. These are detailed below:

- Martin Jeens will give a talk, via Zoom, on “Porters Park Golf Club” at 11.00 on Tuesday 16 March. Martin is a life-long resident of Radlett, a keen archivist and a former Club Captain. Details of the Zoom link will be given on the Museum website: www.radlettmuseum.com nearer the time. Please join us. Further such events are planned and details will be released in due course.
- A fun quiz for children and families “Know your Village” is available and full details may be found on the website. Everyone is welcome to participate.
- Details of the Museum’s “Living with COVID” project may also be found on the website. Local residents are asked to submit articles and photos which record what life was like during the pandemic.
- We have been granted a monthly slot in “RadlettNews” magazine. We intend to post an article of local historical interest in each edition. Please look out for them.

As ever, we welcome offers of help and of local historical photos, pictures, documents and memorabilia. If you wish to help and/or contribute, please contact us on: info@radlettmuseum.com. Please do not hold back!

When we do reopen please come and visit us and see the current display, the main element of which focuses on Watling Street. Our opening hours will be 10.00am to noon on Wednesdays and Saturdays.
